THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN Publishing Company will issue this week, in pamphlet form of about one hundred and forty pages, in clear type and handsome style, the full verbatim report of the recent proceedings and the decision of the court in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia in the matter of the United States on General Thomas J. Brady etal, in which proceedings were attempted to be instituted by criminal information in lieu of presentment and indictment by grand jury. This pamphlet will be valuable to the legal profession throughout the entire country, as it undoubtedly contains the most exhaustive research and thoroughly collated authorities and carefully-prepared arguments upon this important branch of criminal practice that has ever been presented before a legal tribunal.

Copies can be had upon application or by addressing The NATIONAL REPUBLICAS Publishing Company, Washington, D. C. Price, $1 per copy.

A Curious Bit of Bistory Interesting to Scientific People.

To the Editor of THE REPUBLICAN:

inst, is a .. ort petice in reference to the pending telephone interference before the United States Patent Office, and in this connection. I note a singu-lat circumstance. In looking over several old newspapers. I found a copy of the Richmond Republicon of May 24, 1849, published by Baldwin & Gallaher, in which is a letter of correspondence. From Washington, D. C. strong J. S. G. Jr. Styling from Washington, D. C., signed J. S. G.,  $\delta r$ , giving an account of the celebration at  $\theta t$ . Inegoes, Md. of the anniversary of the landing of the "Pilgrim" of the anniversary of the landing of the "Pilgrim Fathern." In the letter No. 1, dated May 16, 1849, mention is made of a rude experiment, wherein is clearly and briefly described, indisputably, the very basis and first positive proof of the practical idea, and conception of the telephone, and wherein is also shown the first evidence of articulate speech being conveyed from one human heing to another through an extended solid transmitting medium, without the aid of electricity. What is furthermore somewhat remarkable, is the fact that the principle of the so-called Auricular Telegraph, i. s., telephone, should have been first originated, tested, and published to the world by a native-born Washingtonian. As the notice of the principle of the telephone was first made known through a paper having the title of Republican, it may not be out of place to republish the same, after the lapse of thirty-two years, in your own, a paper bearing the same title, Refundant this giving to the selentific reader something peculiar to ponder over. Herewith I give you the identical extract from the letter referred to, which to many concerned may be of some interest and probably waken up new and peculiar points in the matter of the telephone, its history, and the pending controversy, especially as it is intimated that ere long a new contestant for the old prize and a modeum of the fame will enter the lists and arena, and contend for his rights. The following is the extract of letter May 16, 1891: Fathers." In the letter No. 1, dated May 16, 1849 J. S. G., Jn.

"Physician, Heal Thyself!"

When the Sunday Herald publishes for the sake of ridicule a letter written by an ignoramus, we would most respectfully advise it to overhaul its grammar and make sure that its own sentences are technically correct before criticizing any production, no matter how badly written or spelled. In yesterday's issue, Sunday, November 13, the Healit gives to the public a letter written to one of the Departments by a person anxious for a place. In the four lines preceding this remarkable epistle are three glaring grammatical errors, for which the sunday Herald stands sponsor. The Herald says.
The following is an exact copy of an application "The following is an exact copy of an application received at one of the Departments recently. The spelling, espitalization, and punctuation is just as if appeared in the original." (Italics are our own.) The Hereld must remember that "adverbs should be piaced as near as possible to the preceding words to which they relate," hence "recently should precede or follow the verb "received," which it qualifies. However, this is but an error in elegance of expression. But what shall be said of the verb "is" following "spelling, capitalization, and punctuation," and of the pronoun "it used to represent the three nouns connected by "and." Horror of horrors! In a Mexican, a Texan, a Government clerk, or one who does not write for the papers, this atrocity might be overlooked; but in a sheet like the Smalay Heruld, which proclaims itself "the glass of fishion and the mold of form "in ethics, economy, politics, and law (not to mention grammer, rhetoric, and punctuation), this ministerious stack on the King's English is entirely inexcusable. It is too unterly too for anything! For the benefit of the Sanday Herald (which appears to be falling into its dotage) we will say that in its first childhood it certainly mamorized the rules of synax, which declare that "two or more nominatives in the singular, connected by 'and, 'course a blursi verb,' and that mamorized the rules of syntax, which declare that "two or more nominatives in the singular, connected by 'and, 'roure a plural verb,' and that "pronouns agree with the nouns for which they stand in gender, number, and person." Hence the Heroid must know that "is should be "are" and "is should be "they," and the sentence should read: "The spelling, capitalization and pometuation are just as they appear in the original." Being opposed to hitting a man when he is down, we refram from criticizing the punctuation which places a comma after civilization when connected with the word following by "and." Dear sanday Heroid, let us remind you use if the "blind lead the blind both shall fall into the dtebh," out of which they must be pulled by a sympathizing and forgiving pubile.

No sooner is the campaign in Virginia over than the Democrats begin to tell the truth about the Mahone movement. All through the campaign the idea was steadily maintained by the Northern Democrats that the anti-Bourbons were lighting for repudiation and the Bourbons were fighting against it, yet on Thursday morning, one of the most zealous Bourbon organs, The Richmond State, was able to say: "The white men of Virginia, who fancied that a vote for repudiation or readjustments, or any action louching the State debt, will surely be disappointed. The Republican party, to which Mahone is sold, will insist on the payment of the debt." This, then, is the object of the unholy condition between the Republican party and Mahone—the payment of the debt. How sheekingly dreadfall were fighting for repudiation and the Bourbo
